++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Remaining settled and dry, with sunny spells.

Today:
A cloudy morning for most in the east, with any fog patches clearing to sunny spells. Elsewhere plenty of sunshine throughout the day. Feeling pleasant in the sunshine but chilly under any cloud. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Patchy cloud forming this evening with some isolated showers later. Outbreaks of rain, heavy at times, will arrive over southern Wales by dawn. Risk of fog and frost forming overnight. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Wednesday:
A murky damp day with low cloud and fog persisting, and scattered showers turning heavy at times. Feeling chillier in the east. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Remaining cloudy and damp on Thursday before a dry and sunny Friday and Saturday. Turning colder from Friday however, with a risk of overnight frosts.
